The Daily Tribune.

A FIRE-SIDE SONG.

BY C. A. PERCIVAL.

O loved so fondly and so long!
"My first, last, only love;"
Inspirer of my boyhood's song,
My manhood's passion, calm and strong,
All youthful flame above.

To thee once more I wake the lyre
Whose first notes breathed thy name;
And tho' no more it may aspire
To thrill with youth's impassioned fire,
Its notes are still the same!

The same as when, long years ago,
We dwelt in that sweet vale,
When oft by moonlight wandering slow,
With mingled voices, soft and low,
We told love's blissful tale.

The same, though oft the breath of care
Has swept its chords since then;
And I a mask have learned to wear,
And, with a grave and thoughtful air,
To take my place with men.

Gone are the days of young romance—
The vernal years are o'er;
But summer joys no less entrance,
And as the autumn years advance,
We find new bliss in store.

Though young we never more may be,
Yet chide we not our fate;
For smiles, lit up by thee and me,
Upon those cherub faces three,
Our lives rejuvenate.

Calmly we wait the coming years,
Nor ask the stars to show
If bright with smiles or dark with tears
To them our horoscope appears—
Enough for us to know,

That, always to each other true,
A love that ne'er grows cold,
The gloomiest fate shall bear us through—
And joys shall spring forever new
From hearts that grow not old.

Time marks his furrows o'er the brow
And sows the hair with gray;
But, deep below his jealous plough,
The hearts that love as ours do now,
Love on in youth for aye.

VERNON, N. Y., Sept. 1853.

ROMANTIC LIFE.

Obituary notices have nearly monopolized our pen of late. There are few eras in our history which have been marked by so many deaths of prominent individuals, as the last three months. In our obituary columns, to-day, will be found another to the list of remarkable deceased, in the death of Madam Zulime Gardette, the mother of Dr. Gardette, of this City, and of Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines. She died in this City, at the residence of her son, Dr. Gardette, at the advanced age of 78 years.

This lady was the heroine of that intensely interesting romance in real life, which was developed in the celebrated lawsuit of Mrs Gaines. Her maiden name was Zulime Carriere. She was born in the old French Colony of Biloxi—Her parents were emigrants from the land of poetry and romance—the favorite home of the Troubadors—Provence. The blood of the Gipsey race, which, in the early days of Louisiana, settled along our sea coast, whose lovely daughters were the special objects of the admiration and love of the gallant French cavaliers who established the first colonies, mingled with that of the poetic Provincial. From such a stock, it is not remarkable that Zulime Carriere should have derived extraordinary personal beauty.—The charms of herself and her three sisters, were universal themes in the colony of Louisiana.—The warm and genial climate, and luxurious atmosphere of the sea shore, opened these charms into full maturity at an early age.

Zulime had hardly emerged into her teens, before her hand was sought by numerous suitors. The successful aspirant gained his point, as Claude Melnotte, in Bulwers play did, by holding an imaginary coronet, or other insignia of nobility, before the eyes of a beautiful but unsuspecting girl of thirteen. She was caught by the glittering bait. The French nobleman soon dwindled into a confectioner, and what was worse, a married man, who had never been divorced. He was arrested and tried by an ecclesiastical court in this city, for bigamy, was convicted and sentenced to be punished, but afterward escaped, and was no more heard of.—Thus ended Zulime's relation with Jerome De Grange.

Pending this proceeding, and after the discovery of De Grange's previous marriage, there grew up an intimacy between Zulime and Daniel Clark, then a leading man in this colony—a dashing, whole souled Irishman, reported to be very wealthy—of very popular character and agreeable manners. Clark was just the gallant, chivalrous man to espouse the cause of an unprotected and wronged woman.

It is said—but as from this point starts the protracted litigation which has recently engaged so much of the time and attention of our courts—we must be understood as giving the version related by the deceased lady herself and her friends, that Clark having met Zulime in Philadelphia, and satisfied himself as to the existence of De Grange's bigamy, and the consequent nullity of his marriage with Miss Carriere, promptly offered her his hand and heart, but suggested the prudence of keeping their marriage a secret, until they could complete the proof of De Grange's crime. They were then married. Of this marriage but one witness was living when the suit was brought by Mrs. Gaines, and that was the sister of Zulime. But there were corroborating circumstances, upon which the proof of the reality of such a connection was rested. After her marriage to Clark, in 1802, Zulime returned to New Orleans, to take further legal proceedings to invalidate, or rather authenticate, the illegality of the marriage with De Grange. A suit was brought for this purpose in the civil courts of the Territory, and judgment was obtained against De Grange. In the meantime, Clark had advanced in years and honors. The gallant youth of 1802 had become the ambitious politician and millionaire. As the popular man of a powerful party, he was sent as delegate of the territory to Congress. Here he soon forgot the poor Creole girl, and began to meditate a more brilliant marriage connection. The object of this aspiration was the lovely Miss Caton, of Maryland, a grand-daughter of Charles Carrol of Carrolton, who afterwards became Marchioness of Wellesly. She was a great belle, and Clark's fine manners, distinguished position and great wealth, no doubt, rendered him quite a desirable match for so brilliant and accomplished a beauty. They were engaged; but some stories of his enemies caused a sudden termination of their relations.

On hearing of his courtship of Miss Caton, the unfortunate Zulime again went to Philadelphia to procure proofs of her marriage with Clark—But alas! Clark, it was alleged, under the influence of a reckless ambition, had made way with those proofs, and poor Zulime again found herself the victim of man's treachery. In a feeling of desertion and helplessness, alone among strangers, whose language and habits were foreign to her, she accepted the hand of Dr. Gardette, who generously and magnanimously, relying on her truth and sincerity, united his fate and fortune with hers. From that period, her life flowed smoothly on in the discharge of her duties as a wife and mother.

Shortly after her marriage with Gardette, Clark had suffered his severe rebuff from the lovely Miss Caton. In a spirit of true penitence he hurried to Philadelphia, saw Zulime and declared his determination to proclaim their marriage. But it was too late. She informed him that she was Mrs. Gardette. Clarks was deeply distressed at this, and exhibited a sincere penitence. He sought to atone for his desertion of the mother, by kindness to the daughter, who was born in 1806, of this secret marriage. This was Myra Clark. She was placed in charge of an intimate friend of Clark, Col. Davis, who raised and educated her as his own daughter. It was not until she had reached maturity, that Myra discovered the secret of her history.

Since then, as Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Gaines, she has prosecuted her claim to the property of Daniel Clark, as his lawful heir, with a zeal, earnestness and energy, which have rarely been equaled in the annals of litigation. The difficulty has been to establish the marriage between Zulime and Daniel Clark. Certainly, a mystery has long hung over this case, which only the dead could rise from their graves and satisfactorily determine.

The once lovely Zulime, passing through so many reverses and misfortunes, returned, in her old age, to New Orleans—her old home—and passed a peaceful and happy life, in the family of her son, respected and beloved for her many virtues. She died at the age of 78, the youngest of her family—two of her sisters having attained their 90th year; a longevity common to the oldest inhabitants of Louisiana, and particularly of those born on our sea coast.—New Orleans Delta, Sept. 20th.

DEMOCRACY ON WHIG GROUND.

The Democrats of the present day are fond of taunting the Whig party with the assertion that the Whigs have no principles. We are not entirely certain, but that they are more than half right. They have union plans, and appropriate them to their own use, and imagine they have left no destitute. For example, and there is nothing like a good example, we have only to refer to the question of the constitutionality of appropriations, by the General Government, of the Public Lands, for the erection of works of public improvement. All of us remember well, that the illegality of any such appropriations has been one of the favorite hobbies of the Democracy for the last two terms of years. If there is any one doctrine that has been universal with the Democratic party, ever since Gen. Jackson put his veto on the Maysville road bill, it is that the Federal Government cannot, without the direct violation of the Constitution, make appropriations for the construction of roads. It is equally well-known that the Whigs have with equal unanimity advocated such appropriations, and sustained their constitutionality by arguments which appear finally to have convinced their opponents, for the present illustrious Pierce administration goes in heart and soul, and with the full approbation and concurrence of its party, North and South, for the appropriation of the land of the United States Government for internal erection of roads.

Lest this fact should by any chance be disputed, we will substantiate it by referring to an advertisement which appeared in the Washington Union some weeks ago, and which was at the time noticed, to the effect, that certain lands lying within 15 miles of the route of the Brandon and Mississippi railroad were withdrawn, by order of the President, from public sale, in consequence of urgent representations in behalf of the friends of the proposed railroad," above-mentioned. The advertisement also states that the President of the United States has directed that, for the present (and until the pleasure of Congress can be ascertained in regard to a grant of said land in aid of constructing said railroad,) the public lands lying within 15 miles (or thereabouts, as near as may be,) on either side of an air line between Brandon and Montgomery, in the districts of land subject to sale at Jackson and Augusta, in Mississippi, and at Demopolis and Cahaba, in Alabama, be withheld from public sale or private entry (as the case may require,) until further notice, and special instructions to that purport have been accordingly given to the land officers of the districts aforesaid. The Governor of the State of Alabama, and other citizens of that State, united in the request with which the President has complied.

The Journal of Commerce, a reliable, but terribly old Fogyish paper, has summed up the facts here avowed:

When the great Illinois Central bill came before Congress, it shocked the sensibilities of the Slave States, strict construction men. It was a bill hard to hold that it was certainly in its principles, but its expediency was doubted. Many believed that it would fail of its intended purpose. But its real success has illustrated the wisdom of the policy in which it originated.

The city is now said at the time, among the enterprising men on shore, that the West must have roads to market through the public domain; and that if the West could not get the roads by this means, the whole West, 10 millions and odd, would embrace the Whig policy of internal improvement—Mr. Clay's American system. It was this conviction that carried the bill. Mr. Jefferson Davis now stood in straight for Mr. Toombs, of North Carolina, and others of his ostentatious friends, and we remember to, that Mr. Venable, after plotting all the railroad bills, came around to the support of the abominable bill for giving away the public lands to the lazy and ungrateful appleseeds of all varieties of the Republican capable of hoarding empires.

The system of granting lands for improvements in the new States and Territories may now be regarded as thoroughly established.

We have now, we imagine, substantiated our opening remark, that the Democrats of the present day have stole one, at least, of our principles. We hope it may do them much good, but fear that they will pervert it, as they ever have done with everything they have laid hands upon. An engine in the hands of reckless Democrats, may rush to ruin with reckless speed, and a measure of public policy, which in prudent and honest hands might be productive of infinite good, is liable to be made a means of just as much evil, if left to the care and management of corrupt and dishonest political workers. But be this as it may, no one can deny that the present position of the Administration upon the question, as evinced by the advertisement quoted from the Union, and substantiated by the remarks of the Journal of Commerce, is no complete a retreat from the old Democratic ground of 1839, as is possible to be conceived by even the most adroit of Democratic turn-coats.

METHODISM AND SLAVERY.

The Methodist Church appears to be radically divided, and in regard to the opinions which certain portions of it entertain with regard to slavery, the degree of sin which its countenance, support or permission may incur. At the recent meeting of the Michigan Conference of the State of Michigan, a committee was appointed, consisting of some of the most venerable and worthy ministers of the Conference, to which the subject of slavery was referred. This committee made a report, which is as follows:

"The evil of slavery still exists in our land.—We are as much as ever opposed to it, and believe the time has come for us to exert our moral and social influence for its entire extinction. The admission of slave-holders into the church of Christ doubtless gives it countenance and support, in the estimation of the world, and that light upon the subject to render it the duty of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to make immediate efforts to purify herself from any sin, or sin of indifference to strengthen or uphold a system of oppression, which—as reputable writers of the present day have before his death, to be "the vilest that ever saw the sun.

Resolved, Therefore, by the Michigan Annual Conference assembled, That we regard all slave holding as sinful, except in those cases where Lisle relation is retained for the special purpose of emancipation, and attended with diligent efforts to qualify the slave, not merely for a chattel, to vast but a freeman.

Resolved, That we regard the admission of slaveholding members into the Church, to be attended with so many and so great evils, that efficient means should at once be adopted to prevent it."

If we compare the spirit which animated these resolutions, with that exhibited by the action taken by the Rock River Conference, which recently stirred its session in this place, we very much fear that the latter will suffer by the comparison. It is your policy in our opinion, to temporize with sin, and to exercise forbearance and conciliation towards a hideous and crying wrong, for fear it may ruffle the locks of some who claim fellowship with Christ, but at the same time hold the immortal soul Christ died to save, in bondage worse than death. This, as well as deeper, should be not equally and fearlessly, for as Sir Joseph Barrington says, "the best way to avoid danger is to meet it plump," and the best way to avoid sin is to meet it "plump," and not permit it to remain an eating canker in the heart of the Church.

However, we are not much given to discussing church matters, and leave the subject with the remark that the tempering action of the Rock River Conference, in laying the resolutions which were offered in regard to slavery, upon the table, and refusing to take them up for discussion, "for fear that the agitation of the subject would inflame the passions of the South, and create animosities in the bosom of the Church," was neither what we expected to see, nor what our views of duty would have led us to adopt.

Special Correspondence of the Tribune.
Railroad Accident—Steam and Lake Cities—Weather—Markets—Gold Discovery.

BUFFALO CREEK, MONDAY,
Friday Eve, Sept. 30, 1853.

The westward bound passenger train on the Michigan Central Railroad, while coming round a short curve about three miles east of this place, at 1 o'clock this noon, ran over an ox, throwing the engine, tender, one freight car, and one second class passenger car down an embankment, twenty-five feet high, completely demolishing both. Conductor Hurlbut and the engineer and fireman of the train, and a few passengers were considerably injured; a few of the first class passengers were also slightly bruised.

The locomotive and tender are almost buried in a ditch; the baggage car rested a complete somersault, going down the bank, and landed "right side up" in the bottom of the gully. The day was partially stormy, which rendered the striking one of the wheels of the engine, and many of those injured were in this car. The drawing cage car, with the U. S. Mail and Express was thrown a little further, to the left side of the engine, and rested so nicely the presence of some of the passengers, while waiting for aid, that it will only be necessary to lift it up to place the contents upon the track, to proceed on their way. The forward wheels of the car are now thrown to the left, but otherwise was uninjured.

The train was running at the rate of thirty miles per hour, at the time, and from a view of the wreck, it is astonishing that no one was killed. No blame can be attached to the officers of the train, as when the cow came round the curve, the ox was seen in a field at the right, running at full speed, and heading for the track; the cow, however, turned back, and the ox was thrown to the left side of the track, and landed in the position where it now lies.

The weather and markets are unchanged. Gold was discovered in Canada, on the 27th inst., in the township of Chinguacousy, Peel county, about 20 miles from Toronto. It is said to be found in large quantities, and of a very superior quality.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE PEOPLE'S JOURNAL, Devoted to Literature, Science and Art. Edited by Geo. Lunt, Geo. W. Curtis, and Parke Godwin. New York: Dix & Edwards.

This contains slots of readers, and a clean type, by an unusually limited list of numbers, nothing could be more acceptable than the announcement of a new novel by Emerson Bennett. For ourself, we never admired his productions, and have never been able to see any substantial ground for the profuse laudations which have been showered upon him by the Press. But as our taste is by no means faultless, we do not set up our judgment as a criterion, but advise all who are in doubt of its correctness to read the "Forged Will," as we have done, and judge for themselves. It is equal in plot, incident and style to any of Mr. Emerson's former novels and, in truth, in one or two particulars, superior to "Clara Moreland," or to the "Prairie Flower" which, we believe, are considered his master pieces. The scene of the "Forged Will" is laid in New York city, and the crime, misery, intrigues and virtues of that great city are described with much earnestness and pathos.

December, 1853. Lake No. on the book.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE.

This body meets at Springfield to-day. The Order is rapidly increasing in the State, so the attendance will probably be very large.

The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons met at Jacksonville on Wednesday.

HON. EDWARD EVERETT.

The recent letter of the Hon. Edward Everett, in reply to the dispatch of the British Minister, has commanded the almost universal commendation and admiration of the people of the country. Even the Galena Advertiser, a paper not remarkable for complimenting anything from Whigs—as it of course will.

Everett need fear no assaults from the position which bears his name in American affairs. Sentiment, American sentiment and American feeling will be found to sustain him. The position he occupies is the true one, and will command the approbation of every true American heart. The letter is destined to be read from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Lakes to the Gulf, and its whole tone and temper are worthy of the statesman and the scholar who has written it. Like the diplomatic correspondence of Webster, it is characterized by the gifted writer's accustomed ease and grace, in defence of a righteous cause. But for its too great length it would appear in our columns.

Gov. Paulding and Gen. Jackson.—The New York Evening Post contains another chapter of Col. Benton's forthcoming Memoirs. It is a delineation of the character of Andrew Jackson, and his excellent wife, who was known at the "Hermitage" as "Aunt Rachel." It is known that "Old Hickory," was the friend and patron of Benton in his boyhood and youth; that in his middle life they were deadly foes and fought a duel; Benton resigning a ball in "Old Hickory's" shoulder, which he carried till he died; and that afterwards they were the most cordial friends. Benton's estimate of Jackson, as a statesman, is one of unbounded admiration. These facts give great interest to Col. Benton's details.

The attempt to tie down the life of Gen. Jackson to most grave-fist and slumbering, and show him in a light far different from that in which he has been generally regarded. We know nothing in the career or impulsions of Gen. Jackson more honorable to his head and heart than this interesting and affectionate chapter.

State Elections.—A State election takes place in Georgia to-day. Governor and Members of Congress are to be chosen. Maryland elects Gov—nor Members of Congress and Legislature, and a city election occurs on Wednesday. Pennsylvania and Ohio have general election on the 11th. In the latter State the contest is a political one, elections always turn on the interest.

The fight between the "soft" and "hards," the "unterrified" and the "terrified," unconquerable pulsion election.

Disaster.—The Alton Telegraph, of the 29th, says "the extreme dryness of the weather for some weeks past, has been remarkable. All nature is suffering for rain, and it is devoutly to be hoped that it will speedily come. Many of our farmers have not yet planted their wheat, nor can they finish plowing until we have rain. A general fall rain is also heard of in many quarters. We hope soon to chronicle the receipt of a "copious shower."

☞ The New York Evening Post, thus gives the "good bye" to the Hard Shell Democracy of the Empire State. The language is plain, decisive, and explicable:

"Their separation is not to be regretted.—They are, as a body, such a corrupt set of rogues, so many of them have been cheating our State Prisons of their dues for so many years, so many of them are unfaithful officers, so inept to make machines, that there was no possibility of saving the party interest or strength while they remained with it. Get them away from any sort of claim to its forbearance. For the sake of honest many Democrats have hesitated to stigmatize them as thieves, scamps, scamboat thieves, canal contractors, plunder agents, and post office robbers, who compose the majority of them, as they deserved, because they did not wish to make the hatching worse than the brooding, and the party with which they were in apparent communion. Now we have the pure fiend of the party left, and we can denounce them as such. Every honest Democrat will be delighted to get rid of them, and the party will be purified and strengthened by their departure."

The Albany Atlas thinks that in one respect the Post has been gratified. Some of the purer men of the party (Collector Bronson and District Attorney O'Conner) have their tongues loosed," and have been calling things by their right names.

A Mr. Ireland of Nora, Ill. has given birth to a son which had in his hand, or rather attached to his wrist-bone, the middle joint of each little finger by its own ligament, of course a perfect tenaste. The mother had been used unusual care to open her inmates in the garden, and hoped to have them ripe before her confinement. The specimens brought by her son were about the size and stage of maturity of those in the garden, and would not be distinguished from them by the closest scrutiny.

Henry L. W. Hall, Esq., a planter residing near New Orleans, who, when the late Sun broke out, joined the Howard Association to draw on him weekly (?) $100 during the pestilence, found himself fallen a victim to it. A few weeks ago he made a donation of $10,000 to pay for building a Methodist Episcopal Church. He was a man of great wealth and unbounded liberality.

OUR RAIL ROAD WESTERN TERMINUS.

The Chief Engineer, Col. Curtis, located the Western terminus of our road now about the Bridge, on the North Branch, at the west line of Lot 1, at the city of Council Bluffs on the Missouri river. Since that location two or three other important roads have determined to converge opposite the mouth of Pacific in the same point.—The Rock Island extension, the Burlington Western extension, and the Lyons road are all directing their course as a crooked stick, and found when she got home that she had bought a paper a week old, which he appropriated to making a great coat for the cat.—Boston Post.

Guilty.

The Ohio State Journal says, the case of the State of Mary Hobbs, on a charge of causing the death of Mary Clark, came on to be heard yesterday before Governor Lucas, and the defendant was committed to the jail of Franklin county, in the sum of five thousand dollars to appear at the next term of the Court of Common Pleas. The evidence was conclusive, and the guilt of the accused thoroughly substantiated. The law can inflict no punishment which will be too rigorous.

Caming to it!

The racially constables of Cincinnati seized a negro some weeks ago and tried to decoy him into a free State. These scamps have had their trial. They are acquitted, and, virtually, the Judge decrees that every colored man in Ohio is a slave until proved to be a freeman. Go on in this style until you have driven the last free negro from the Northern shore.—Louisville Courier.

Yes, and if the Judge had been consistent with his own decisions, he would have sentenced the whole crew of constables to the penitentiary for conspiracy to kidnap.

From the Panama Gazette.—Schooner Yankee fisherman make sad complaint of the little protection afforded them by the United States fishing squadron which has just returned home, as will be seen by an article from a Newburyport paper in another column. The fishermen declare that they have frequently been driven out to sea by the British cruisers in the most tempestuous weather, and in direct violation of treaty stipulations; also, that the American squadron, instead of going to and remaining upon the fishing grounds, merely visited the principal provincial ports, and when wanted could not be found, though assiduously searched for.—These are grave charges, and the officers of the squadron sent to protect our fishermen, if guilty of this dereliction of duty, should be made to understand that the "shells" which they should give to the enemy are made of cast iron, and not of game feathers, pruunells, broad cloth, and an etch-stick.

Mons. Gaudissart.—The Louisville Journal says: The Treasury Department has received letters from Mons. Dugas, Esq., a full return from the money placed in the hands of Mr. Secretary Corwin for the purchase of Government stocks. Mr. Draper originally held $1,700,000; he received $1,200,000 in stocks and the balance in money.

And this is the whole upshot of the transaction from which all the Loafers across a few months ago, and of which among the intelligencers of the Secretary's swindler of the Government. Why will not some of the Loafers pen honest enough even if their bodily health suffers a little by it, to tell their readers then the all-god swindlement the Whig Secretary saved to the nation many thousands of dollars!

☞ The New York Whig, and third-shell Democratic paper, have an inexhaustible fund of sport in reading the saving and doings of John Van Buren & Co. in the days of "auld lang syne," and comparing them with the present position of the prince and his adherents.—The following is a sample:

1849.

John Van Buren.—"If I ever cast a vote for Slavery may I be forsaken by man and deserted by God."

John Cochran.—"The opponents of the Wilmot Proviso should be ghosted here and damned hereafter."

1853.

Van Buren and Cochran.—"Three cheers for the Fugitive Slave bill!"

Interesting from Venezuela.—The arrival of the Caroline Knight at New York, brings us dates from Puerto Cabello, a sea port town on the north coast of Venezuela, up to the 3rd ult. The revolutionary troops of Venezula had nearly all submitted to the power of President Monagas, giving the brothers a present triumph. It was believed, however, that the government would not exist long although likely to be strengthened at the Presidential election next year.

Sensitive.—The New York Evening Post tells us of an incident at a place of public amusement in that city on Monday evening, when J. Sheridan Knowle's five act comedy of "Love, or the Countess and the Serf," was performed in the presence of a large assemblage of citizens and strangers. The editor says:

"In the fifth act the Duke discovers that the serf loves his daughter, and to prevent their union he calls Huon before him, and requests him to sign a paper for his marriage to Catherine. This cuts Huon to the quick, as he loves the Countess, and he refuses to obey the Duke. The latter threatens the serf with death for his disobedience, but it has no effect. Here a little excitement arose, when Huon, replying to the Duke, said:

"What is death compared to slavery?

The last sentence was delivered with such emphasis that almost the entire audience began demonstrations of applause, while a few persons in the house, probably Southern gentlemen loosed somewhat loudly. Order was soon restored, and the play proceeded to its close."

☞ Bravo the wall, all about the revolution in Chinese and the Tartar dynasty. Yelled in a newspaper under the very nose of Mrs. Partington. The old lady started at the sounding word. "What's to pay now?" said the dame, "I'm sure I'm sorry as the young and interesting member of Richardson's." "No folks, mem," she mean," asked she, smiling, "what is the insinuation you have got?" "The Chinese has revolted," said he, "and the Tartars is at the bottom of it." "Good gracious," replied she, "you don't say so!" and she searched in her pocket "handle" for two cents to purchase the paper with. "Tartars at the bottom of it! the cream of Tartar, I am sorry to hear, and that make the whole batch of em sour. As for their frying in lard, they, notwithstanding, to say nothing of their dyeing, "it isn't any matter if they do if they neglect the goodness of providence in not sending them sour-krout and beer for the people's comfort, if they do not accept it." The dame took her seat in the Dock Square omnibus, and found when she got home that she had bought a paper a week old, which he appropriated to making a great coat for the cat.—Boston Post.

LOCAL MATTERS.

TURNER'S FESTIVAL AND GERMAN MASS MEETING.

The German Turnverein Association of this city, and several other German Societies design holding a Festival and Mass meeting, this afternoon in Captain Hoeck's Garden, corner of Chicago Avenue and Wolcott Sts. The various Societies will assemble at 2 o'clock in Dearborn Park, from whence they will proceed to the Garden in procession. The Song Union will open the exercises with appropriate music, after which, a member of the Turnverein will deliver an address setting forth the aims and benefits of the Turner Societies in the United States.—Then will follow a display of gymnastic exercises, interspersed with brief addresses, instrumental music and songs.

At the close of the Turner's festival, a Mass Meeting will be held, the objects of which are the following:

1. For securing the right of citizenship in our State to aliens, after a residence of one year after declaration of intention to become naturalized.

2. For getting up a Kossta demonstration in Chicago; and

3. For celebrating the 20th of October, the anniversary of the annexation of Louisiana to the United States.

At 8 o'clock in the evening, a Ball will take place in the North Market Hall. It is expected that all the German Societies of the city will be present at the Ball. At some appropriate time during the afternoon or evening, the German ladies of the city will present a splendidly wrought flag to the Turners.

PUTNAM FOR OCTOBER.—A. H. & C. Burley, 121 Lake street, and Mellen & Co., 53 Clark street, have received the October number of this popular monthly. Its contents are as follows: "What Impression do we make abroad;" "Institutions of Learning and Science;" "The Early Poetry of France;" "The Late Patriotic Celebration at Berne;" "The Text of Shakspeare;" "Art Manufactures;" "Wensley;" "To Let;" "Reminescences of an Ex Jesuit, No. 3;" "The Orchestra: M. Jullien;"—(an interesting article for lovers of music)—"Fishing at the West;" "Sketches in a Paris Cafe;" concluding with editorial notes on American Literature.

It will be seen by the above "bill of fare" that the magazine contains a vast amount of valuable reading for 25 cents.

ANDRIEU'S DIORAMAS.—The attraction at Tremont is gaining great favor with our citizens.—The exhibition is very entertaining, and the explanations on Saturday evening by Mons. Andrieu were original and witty. The different views of St. Louis are very interesting, and can be fully appreciated by those who have visited that city. The burning of the steamboats at the Levee in 1849 is strikingly portrayed, and the immediate change from that to the present day is decidedly beautiful. The bird's eye view of the city, as a work of imagination, is full of merit.

The next scene presents Peoria and the Illinois river, and the truthfulness of the sketch will make one almost fancy himself crossing the bridge, which spans the river.

The interior view of the Crystal Palace is a scene which cannot fail of exciting admiration. As a work of art, we have never seen it equalled. Those who want to pass an evening pleasantly will be highly pleased by viewing the Dioramas at Tremont Hall.

THEATRICAL.—The final benefit of Mr. and Mrs. Florence came off with great eclat, on Saturday evening. The audience was large, intelligent and well qualified to pass a discriminating verdict upon the merits of the two comedians who have for the last three weeks played upon the boards of the Chicago Theatre. If the number present, their applause, and their encores, may be taken as an evidence of the estimation in which the Chicago public hold Mr. and Mrs. F., we may be safe in asserting that they have won their approbation, esteem, and affection. Mr. and Mrs. F. both have some faults, both in their conception of character and their delineation of it, but they are such imperfections as are venial, and which time will remove. We wish, as a sincere well wisher of Mrs. F., that she would discontinue to act the character of "The Yankee Girl," as personated in the person of "Miss Mary Ann Mehitable." The character is ill conceived in the first place. It is but a caricature, not a portraiture, and she evidently feels that it is so. She is capable of far better things than personating a girl who, devoid of all personal attractions, is at the same time equally destitute of all those finer qualities of heart and soul which should characterize the female breast. Let Mrs. F. devote her talents, which are of no ordinary grade, to the embodiment of characters which, while they are amusing, are at the same time ennobling and refining, and we predict for her a most brilliant future. It may be said that such plays as the "Yankee Girl" are suited to the canaille and must be played to amuse them. The first part of the assertion may be correct, but we deny the latter. The object of the drama should be to elevate, not to drag down; to refine, not to corrupt. And we are very much mistaken if, even the class generally imagined to be pleased with the lower order of amusements, will not in a very short time be won over to take equal delight in plays of a noble cast.

In Irish delineations, Mr. and Mrs. F. are perfect. We have not the slightest fault to find with Juddy O'Trot, and "Ragged Pat" meets with our most unqualified admiration. There are scenes in this Drama which are very fine, and which do great honor to its author, Mr. F. We hope that Mr. and Mrs. Florence will soon return to Chicago. They will meet with a hearty welcome.

The engagement of Mr. McVicker commences to night. Mr. Henry Seedly formerly of the Howard Athenaeum, Boston, has also been engaged as a leading actor. He appeared on the stage in this city about three years since, and has latterly been a prominent member of the Theatre at Nashville.

For the Tribune.

JUVENILE CRIME NO. 3.—THE REMEDY. LEGISLATION.

We must not, Messrs. Editors, be "weary in well doing." Many take pleasure in testifying to the faithful and independent course you have pursued, in efforts in more ways than one, to induce our law-makers, and citizens at large to entertain some practical and efficient plan of Juvenile reform. These efforts will not be in vain. If the serious matters which have been brought to the consideration of the Council, be disregarded, the remedy is with the people, and in the construction of the rest we must see to it, that men be chosen, whose every political movement does not revolve around the narrow center of their own speculations in real estate.

We will close our present efforts in these premises until the eve of another Municipal election, with one single remedial suggestion.

The jewels of any country are her sons—emphatically so are the sons and daughters of this Republic. The mind of every child in the Nation is the Nation's property. It must not be permitted to run to waste. No city on this wide continent has advantages superior to our own, to educate every child, and thus to prepare it for usefulness and enjoyment. Let the Council take up at once the report of their committee, recommending the establishment of a Juvenile House of Refuge. Let the work be commenced at once, upon a scale that will honor our city and its prospective greatness—position and influence. Then let us set work in earnest, and legislate all these wandering idle boys and girls into school, and we shall in five short years, save more than will pay for two such establishments. Boston sets us, in this regard, a noble example. If the police find a loitering idle boy about the street, he is taken into durance. If his parents come to claim him, they are required to place him in school. If they refuse, the city Marshall takes charge of him, and compels him to attend, in default, he is locked up. Thus Boston takes charge of her poor children and youths. Let Chicago profit by her plan, and "do likewise."

LILIBON.

OUR COUNTRY HOTELS.

We have been very much grieved within a few days past, by certain representations which have been made to us, by gentlemen from various sections of the region round about our city, in relation to the untidyness which prevades many, if not all, of the hotels in the towns and villages situated upon the various railroad routes which centre in Chicago. We to-day saw a gentleman who had just returned from a ride of over three hundred miles on the G. & C. U. Railroad, who informed us that he had not been able to obtain a meal of clean victuals since his departure, and had returned to Chicago, fasting. Said he, "I am used to coarse, common fare, but must have it clean—I have no desire to a repast of flies, and hairs, with a modicum of saleratus and sour flour." Our friends should look to this, and if the present landlords will not keep clean houses, aid those who will, to establish places of rest and refreshment, where the weary traveler can indeed take his ease in his Inn.

CANAL TOLLS.—The amount of tolls received at the Canal Collector's Office, in this city, during the month of September last, was $9,149 04. The tolls for August were $8,408 [illegible]—showing an increase for the past month of $641 31.

OCTOBER 1st, 1853.

Lydia Elizabeth Lauson—sleeping on staircase evidently insane, sent to poor house.

William Roberts, John E. Stewart, Daniel Valentine and William Byrne—Disorderly at half after three this morning. Byrne being very drunk and ugly was fined $10 and cost, and given ten days extra in Bridewell to work it out.—The others paid $3 and cost, each.

John Lytle—paid two dollars and cost for being drunk and sleeping on the sidewalk last night.

Robert Burns—charged with stealing a pair of boots from J. M. Reis, bound over in $200.

Organantic Schlichting, a German, complained that Oleman Erd had been talking very low Dutch to her and that trouble would probably ensue. Oleman signified his desire to marry the young woman; she consenting, and a license having been procured, the Judge kindly turned their sorrowing into rejoicing on the spot.—"Peace and plenteousness be within their habitation."

MEETING OF LIQUOR DEALERS.

At a meeting of the principal Liquor Dealers in the city of Chicago held at Doty's Hotel, on Thursday evening, Sept. 29, Mr. G. McKinley was called to the chair, and C. Adams was appointed Secretary.

The following resolutions were presented and adopted.

Resolved, 1st, That we the undersigned agree to charge 10c per drink for all liquors except beer and cider, on and after the first day of October next.

Resolved, 2d, That we, each and every one of us pledge our characters as business men, to abide strictly by the prices adopted by this meeting.

A CARD.

Since the Proprietor's recent Laboratory enlargements have allowed him to supply his numerous orders for Lyon's Katharion, he has also introduced some new Chemical affinities which adds still to the high character of this immensely popular article for Curling, Preserving and restoring the Hair.

Let those now use,
Who never used before,
And those who always used,
Now use the more.

The price is still 25 cents, in large bottles, and may be had at any Store in the United States.
D. S. BARNES, Proprietor, 161 Broadway, N. Y.

BALDNESS CURED.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS ARE AN INFALLIBLE REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF COUGHS, COLDS AND ASTHMAS.

There are daily so many undeniable proofs of the efficacy of Holloway's Pills in the cures of diseases of the Chest, arising either from old coughs, recent colds, wheezing or shortness of breath, that all persons, whether young or old, suffering from such complaints, should have immediate recourse to these invaluable Pills, as a fair trial will show their extraordinary powers. Many persons who were scarcely able to draw their breath, and apparently almost at death's door, have been completely cured by this remedy, to the astonishment of those who have witnessed their sufferings. se26

BY TELEGRAPH

REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE.

Arrival of the Steamer America.

BREADSTUFFS ADVANCED!

The War Question.

LATER FROM EUROPE!

NEW YORK, Sept. 30, 9, P. M.

The America arrived at Halifax last night. She left Liverpool Saturday, 17th.

Breadstuffs of all qualities advanced, with large business, at advanced rates. Wheat advanced 6 to 7 s. per qr.

Beef firmer; Lard higher; Tallow advanced 2 s.

It is currently reported that the Turks had attacked the Russian outposts.

Placards on the walls of Constantinople, calling on the faithful to attack the Russians.

On special demand from the powers, the Sultan consents to postpone issuing a manifesto.—His manifesto, it is said, would be in warlike language; indeed a declaration of war. The Turks continue to arm and every thing was paid for in specie. The Turkish levy of 350,000 men was actively going on. Detachments were constantly marching.

Omar Pacha, with a reserve corps, were forming at Adrianople, under Mahomet Pacha.

The Sultan reviewed the Egyptian troops on the 26th.

The Pacha of the Egyptian provinces will send 150,000 additional troops from Bucharest.

The Russian General gave orders to the troops, saying that Russia called on them to annihilate the Pagans.

SECOND DISPATCH.

Further by the America!

HIGHLY IMPORTANT!

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.

The America arrived at Halifax on the evening of the 29th, but the lines being down, could not receive her news.

The Cholera was spreading in London.

LIVERPOOL.—There had been over 150 deaths in New Castle.

Hon. Mr. Marsh, United States Consul at Maderia, had arrived in England.

The steamer Great Britain had arrived at Liverpool from Brazil with Gen. Lopez, Minister from Paraguay.

The German papers say that the U. States is backing Switzerland in opposition to Austria; also that Austria was endeavoring to induce the European Governments to demand from the United States declarations of her views on the subject of intervention in European affairs, on the law of nations in general, and the subject of citizenship in particular.

TURKEY.—The Pacha had warned Prince Gottschork that if Russian gun boats approach the city they will be fired into.

Vienna letters say it is fully expected there that the Washington Cabinet would consent to give up Kosta to the Austrian authorities.

The reported reason for the withdrawal of the Austrian Minister at Turin, was to give Austria assurance of the friendly relations between Sardinia and the United States.

A convocation of the Holy Inquisition has again condemned Uncle Tom's Cabin as damnable and pernicious.

The Emperors of Austria and Russia, and King of Prussia, would meet at Olmutz on the 25th. The fate of Turkey is supposed to be the subject of their interview.

The overland mail has telegraphed dates from Hong Kong to July 23, and Bombay the 2d of August.

There was a great famine in Burmah. The country was over run with locusts.

The cholera was raging in Upper India.

CHINA.—The revolutionary army has not changed in its position. The Tartars had attempted to take Amony, but failed. Trade dull.

LONDON MARKET.—Coffee quiet; Rice active; Tea dull. Breadstuffs excited—American red wheat 63s per quarter; white 65a70s; Flour active at 32sa33s 6d.

HAVRE, Sept. 14.

Flour dull, 41 francs for Ohio. On the Bourse, American securities were very dull and prices generally lower. Freights and passengers abundant.

A courier had arrived at Paris on the 14th, from London, with the decision of Aberdeen, Russel, Clarendon, and Palmerston.

Another courier started for Constantinople, with despatches to Lord Stratford de Redcliffe, which it was rumored in well informed circles enjoins him to employ every possible means to induce the Sultan to accept without delay the note of Vienna without modification. The British minister was authorized to allow the squadron to enter the Bosphorus and disembark the troops, for the purpose of causing the Sultan's decision to be respected.

There was no disagreement between France and England relative to the Turkish question.

BUENOS AYRES, July 30.

Urquiza took refuge on board an American steamer, the next day his troops surrendered.

The province of Buenos Ayres was entirely tranquil and business was good at last advices. Urquiza was quiet at Empreros.

[The latter paragraph of the dispatch indicates the settlement of the South American difficulties, and opens the port of Buenos Ayres to the trade. Its effect on the price of Hides will soon be felt, as the supply from that quarter has been materially diminished for many months, which influenced the present high rates.—ED. TRIB.

ERUPTIONS OF THE SKIN.

It should be remembered, when the coarser particles of impurity are diverted from their proper channels, and become deposited in the skin, that cutaneous eruptions are the certain consequence.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills will be found a delightful medicine for all disorders of the skin; because they expel from the body those poisonous humors which are the cause of all kinds of eruptive diseases. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills will be found to aid and improve digestion, and as they are a direct purifier of the blood, they will most assuredly give health and vigor to the whole frame, which in turn will be sure to give a smooth and healthy complexion.

Beware of Counterfeits.

Dr. D's Office,
No. 112 WELLS STREET.
THE ONLY CERTAIN REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF Secret Diseases at 112 Wells Street. By the strict system established at the Lock Hospital, 112 Wells Street, all patients are secure of absolute privacy. The advantages of this system are too well known to need any comment. All who have any need of advice or attention from Dr. D., may confide in him with a full assurance of secrecy and certain hope of recovery. Some of the most learned and famous men in the country have been under his charge—men of genius, intellect and power—and in no instance has the strictness of privacy been violated.

Invalids must be cautioned against the illiterate and unlearned in science, who do so much injury by quackery and imposition. The Vegetable Medicines of Dr. D. are now sufficiently established, as the only certain remedy for Venereal complaints, and those who are afflicted with such complaints are seriously warned not to tamper with them, by trusting those who practice the abuse of mercury or balsam.

Dr. D. freely invites all troubled with disorders to call upon him. His charges are regulated by the circumstances of the case. No charge will be made where a cure is not effected. [illegible]

Offices will be kept open from 9 A. M. until 9 P. M. All letters (post-paid) will receive prompt attention. [illegible]
